

ANNUAL REPORT

TEAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- NCAA Super Regional Appearance, one of five teams to reach the Super Regional in back-to-back seasons
- Second place finish in the ACC, the team's best since 2014
- One of three ACC teams to win at least 66% of its league series and every non-conference series, with six of nine league series won and four sweeps in non-conference weekend action
- Alex Lodise won the 2025 Dick Howser Trophy as the nation's top amateur player, FSU's first winner since 2008, and he also was named the ACC Player and Defensive Player of the Year
- Alex Lodise and Jamie Arnold were named consensus All-Americans, the second consecutive year the program has reached that mark, as Arnold was the team's first multiple-time All-American in consecutive years since 2021-22
- Jamie Arnold was selected 11th overall in the 2025 MLB Draft to headline a program-record 11 draft selections, a total which led the country, as Arnold was the Seminoles' highest overall draft pick since 2008.

“Our Coaches Club gifts are crucial for the operation of our baseball program. Technology and video equipment appropriate for the highest levels of player development, facility upgrades, assistance with charter air travel when necessary, upgraded nutrition, the list goes on and on. We could not provide the environment necessary for today’s student-athletes without the generous gifts to our Coaches Club.”
